Northamber PLC Acquires Tempura Communications Ltd, Expanding Its Presence in the Technology Solutions Market.

[London, 30/04/2024] — Northamber PLC (LSE: NAR), the leading distributor of IT, AV and UC&C products and solutions, today announced the acquisition of Tempura Communications Ltd., a specialist provider of unified communications and collaboration solutions. This strategic move further strengthens Northamber's position in the technology solutions market and enhances its portfolio of offerings to customers both in the UK and Europe.

Founded in 1980, Northamber PLC has a long-standing reputation for delivering innovative AV & IT solutions and exceptional service to businesses across the UK. The acquisition of Tempura Communications Ltd. marks a significant milestone in Northamber's growth strategy, enabling the company to provide a broader range of communication solutions to its customers in the UK and Europe.

Commenting on the acquisition, Alex Phillips, Chairman of Northamber PLC, stated, "We are delighted to welcome Matthew and the Tempura team into the Northamber group. Over the last 20 years they have established a very strong reputation for consistently delivering high-quality services and solutions, greatly valued by customers. This acquisition aligns perfectly with our commitment to offering comprehensive technology solutions to our customers. Tempura brings a wealth of expertise in unified communications and collaboration, which will complement our existing offerings and enhance the value we deliver to our customers."

Tempura Communications Ltd., established in 2002, has built a strong reputation for delivering tailored communication solutions to businesses of all sizes. With a focus on innovation and customer satisfaction, Tempura has become a trusted partner for organisations seeking to optimize their communication infrastructure.

Matthew Light, Managing Director of Tempura Communications Ltd., expressed enthusiasm about the acquisition, saying, "We see a great many synergies with Northamber, including its culture, products and services and I am pleased to be joining the senior management team of a founder friendly business and to become a shareholder in the Company. Joining forces with Northamber presents an exciting opportunity for Tempura and our customers. Together, we will be able to leverage Northamber's extensive experience, resources and industry-leading expertise to accelerate our growth and better serve the evolving needs of businesses."

The acquisition of Tempura Communications Ltd. underscores Northamber's commitment to driving innovation and providing best-in-class solutions to its customers. As the company continues to
